FIRST CALL POSITIONS

Resident Ministry Program

First Presbyterian Church, Ann Arbor, Michigan, is a national leader in coaching exceptional first-call pastors in the Presbyterian Church (USA). Our two-year residency program invites a small cohort of recent seminary graduates into the active, vibrant ministry of a large church in a dynamic university town. Our program model combines experience and reflection to deepen call, awaken strengths, and develop the next generation of church leaders. The next rotation of the program begins in August 2023 and continues for two years.

By allowing me to lead from my strengths, I confidently grew into my pastoral identity, guided by the unconditional love of the congregation and unflinching support of the Resident Ministry Committee.

About the Program

Residency cohorts are composed of individuals who hold particular promise for ministry. All residents are seeking their first call position. Qualifications include being on track for ordination in the Presbyterian Church (USA), and completion of the M.Div degree. We prefer candidates who have completed at least one unite of Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE). Coaching and mentoship of residents provided by Rev. Jay Sanderford, Program Director, other staff members, and a dedicated group of congregants.

I will forever be grateful to the First Pres staff and community for nurturing my transition from being a person in ministry to being a pastor who loves the Church—warts, wonders, and all.
